

Hefty Scales Commission Terms of Service
Last Edited: November 4th, 2022

- I reserve the right to alter these terms as needed with notice to any active clients. These terms are not permanent and will be adjusted as needed.
- All clients, as well as the characters/OCs requested, must be of or over the age of 18, or risk immediate rejection.
- Any portrayal of criminal or non-consensual acts are liable to be rejected.
- All commissions are expected to be posted to my twitter and FurAffinity accounts, as well as other accounts I may open. The client may choose to have their accounts mentioned when uploading, or remain anonymous. Additionally, the client may request that the commission remain private. The client may upload their commissions to their own social media accounts. If a client chose to keep a commission private, yet publicly shared the piece themselves, I reserve the right to then post the piece myself, including any account or name the piece was posted under.
- The sketches and full resolution versions of each commission and alternate versions are expected to be posted to my Patreon after completion.
- I reserve the right to reject a prompt if I am personally uninterested in the subject matter or if I feel that I cannot portray it properly.
- Payment for commissions will take place after a concept sketch is made and confirmed with the client. Once the payment is fully processed, the piece will then move on to completion. Once a piece is completed and the client is happy with it, I will not accept any refund requests.
- I respect the client's need to change or ask for corrections in the event an element is incorrect or missing. However, I reserve the right to reject corrections or cancel a commission if there are too many correction requests or changes.
- The client reserves the right to ask for progress updates and previews on their commission at any time during the process.
- At no point is any work commissioned by me to be used in or in support of any form of NFT, cryptocurrency, blockchain-based technology, pyramid schemes, or any other environmentally/economically dubious and harmful practices.
- Clients may edit their commission, however, they must disclose that they edited it if shared, and must not remove the signature on the piece. They may, however, add their own signature if they made additions or changes, so long as it specifies that they were an editor and not the original artist.

Subjects and fetishes I generally do not draw (this does NOT automatically mean I condemn all listed items, it is merely personal preference):

- Extreme bottom-heavy or "pear shaped" characters
- Toilet-related fetishes such as scat or watersports
- Extreme gore/death
- Humans and "Closed Species" or species associated with them
- Diapers, "baby-fur," or anything childhood/baby-related

- Content that is politically charged, racist, sexist, etc
